

Peter Cincotti

"On the Moon"

Visit "On the Moon" on MotoLyrics.com

You know I care for you
But pretend and lead me on, that's all you do
I try to still believe but now I'm through
And the only place I see is calling out to me
It's the only place I know, it's the place where I must go

On the moon, that's where you'll find me soon
I'll be alone again, that's okay
I must be on my own again
I'll be waiting on the moon for you

I sit and reminisce for many hours
I miss the rain and all the pretty flowers
I dream of all the cities and their towers
And I hope you wonder why I'm lying in the sky
I'll even let you in for free if you come and visit me

On the moon, that's where you'll find me soon
I'll be alone again and all I'll do
Is to lie there till I die there
Waiting on the moon for you

Would you ever even dream
To go to the extreme?
And would you ever wanna
Be the one to rescue me?

On the moon, that's where you'll find me soon
All alone again, unwinding there
And praying that you'll find me there
Waiting on the moon for you

On the moon, that's where you'll find me soon
And still your face will be haunting me
So if you're ever wanting me
I'll be waiting on the moon for you

Visit Peter Cincotti page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.