You know I will give you everything
I believe my love to you now is filling in the air
I see I will give you everything
This moment we're together it's like a dream come true

Will you give your life I want to have it all
If you listen what I say the memory will take us to
There
I've been ever missing you so sadly
We'll never be apart now I know that I'm into your soul

I will give you everything
Close your eyes and think of me now it will show how Much I care
I see I will give you everything
Although we are not together I will keep your heart and Dream

You know I will give you everything
I believe my love to you now is greater than before
I see I will give you everything
I'll be there to comfort you now anytime and anywhere

Will you give your life I want to have it all
If you listen what I say the memory will take us to
There
I've been ever missing you so sadly
We'll never be apart now I know that I'm into your soul

I will give you everything
I will give you everything
I will give you everything
I will give you everything
