Another day is beginning without rest
It's not the day I was waiting for Another dream has left my mind
...and my heart is getting icy again.

Another day is beginning without time
Tired of a sleep that should give me refresh
Feeling my fate is a strong foe for me
...and my heart is getting icy again.

I look through the window the mist of the morning
It seems to be colder than ever this year
It's near seven a.m., I had better go out
I'm taking in sips a bitter coffee.

Another dream that won't come back
...and my heart is getting icy again
Another dream has gone away
..and my heart is getting icy again.

It's too late for a single hope
It's too hard to restart the game
Another dream has gone away
And another part of me too;

It's too late for a single hope
It's too hard to restart the game
Waiting bored for the end of this day
My heart is getting icy again.

The same old song, the same old sorrow
Hope burned in a fault that's not mine
Searching for a reason to walk through the life
Taking the last drop of coffee: it is cold.

Another dream that won't come back
...and my heart is getting icy again
Another dream has gone away
...and my heart is getting icy again.
