"The Outermost Bounds"

Visit "The Outermost Bounds" on MotoLyrics.com

While you live you always think of the edges
The sunrise, the birth, the start of the day
And while you dream, you see the outermost bounds
The sunset, the death, the end of the day

Within the day there's always a love
And within the night there's always a fight
The time in your life is to live to the end

Not the end is the goal for living your life!

The man in the corner is waisting his days
And you, with a smile, will enjoy the flow
While your time is running, don't stare at the end
Because in between, there are still...
More grains of sand!
