"Broken Wing"

it ain't hard to get lost when you forget where you've come from turn that dial to the right push that pedal down don't say goodbye
just for a drive along for the ride

it'd be real nice just to fly away
and escape everything but little bird looks like you've got a broken wing now anything's so easy
it might not make you weak but it sure won't make me believe until you say it it gets worse you know how many more days am I gonna wake up when there's no place I wanna go that sunshine's really gonna kill us all why is every day so cold why is every thing so fucking cold it never melts away

but it sure won't make me believe

that's the top of your lungs and the bottom of your heart is that the top of your lungs? is that the bottom of your heart? is that as deep as your heart goes?

I understand the things that keep you up and I know that you still feel and I know your heart is hemorrhaging it needs some time to heal and now the traffic lights there on your street flash yellow all the time and that mirror in the bathroom it looks cracked in the wrong light but walk out through your threshold fill your lungs and move on down the stairs and let the things you love come back to you in time we'll all get there

but little bird it looks like you've got a broken wing now everything's so easy
