Calling all cars, all coroners,
We got a dead one here,
And anybody else receiving this
The west coast is far from clear.

Like a time bomb, a sudden death,
It's gonna find you, when you least expect
Its gonna leave you, with the emptiest feeling inside
(Over analyzed)

They found me face down in the street
On the night you left to find
Another place to sleep
In rain and regret
They said they tried everything but it was no use
Yeah they tried everything and anyone but you.

Falling like stars into the ocean black,
We're gonna disappear,
And anything left recognizable,
Is rubbed away with fear.

We had our hearts dipped, in time release,
We got the know how, and the elbow grease,
We got our victim, all cut up down here on the floor.
(Over and out the door)

They found me face down in the street
On the night you left to find
Another place to sleep In rain and regret
They said they tried everything but it was no use
Yeah they tried everything and anyone but - you.
One but you.

ONE BUT YOU!!

They found me face down in the street
On the night you left to find
Another place to sleep In rain and regret
They said they tried everything but it was no use
Yeah they tried everything and anyone but you.
