

Alkaline Trio "Hating Every Minute"

Visit "Hating Every Minute" on MotoLyrics.com

Sit down and please make yourself comfortable
I might need some time
To dance around what I need to say
I love you to death, I think I need a break

Well, I spend my days worried out loud
I gag in my head, I choke it back down
It hurts me inside to save you inside
So close my lips tight, move eyes to the side

This is the way we disappear
It's easy if you burnout like a star
This is the way we disappear
It's easy like a fifty foot fall

I'm waiting, for whatever better time
To evict these words that, that have rented out my mind
And I'm hating every minute that I don't speak aloud
Like a year laying down
Like a year laying down
Like a year laying down

And relax, well, on this bed of nails on this plastic sheet
Your blood leaves a trail
Right back to me, a problem you see
Would you please allow a moment to think?

This is the way we disappear
It's easy if you burnout like a star
This is the way we disappear
It's easy like a fifty foot fall

I'm waiting, for whatever better time
To evict these words that, that have rented out my
mind
And I'm hating every minute that I don't speak aloud
Like a year laying down
Like a year laying down
Like a year laying down

