Well, I'm piss and vinegar again
And I hiss and I rattle and shed
And I encircle you like a piranha school
As you slowly find your way to shore

Well, I'm piss and vinegar again
And I needed this like a new hole in the head
Hiding out from the drink but floating, waiting to sink
My great white teeth into your sweet bones

With an ache in my heart and a thorn in my side
I got no where to run, no place left to hide
I got a burning sensation like Clockwork Orange
herbicide
Feels like it's raining all the time

Well, I'm piss and vinegar again
'Cause I feel like I lost my best friend
And at the end of the day
Once it's all down the drain
I'll be fine, I'll be fine

With an ache in my heart and a thorn in my side
I got no where to run, no place left to hide
I got a burning sensation like Clockwork Orange
Feels like it's raining all the time

Now this supernatural disaster
Found me quickly but left even faster
Now I'm sick with the sight of the plaster
This old familiar feeling is bleeding me dry

With an ache in my heart and a thorn in my side
I got no where to run, no place left to hide
I got a burning sensation like Clockwork Orange
Feels like it's raining all the time
