Like a whirlwind of neon through empty streets

The crusader forever races

A message he brings to the chosen one

On the wings of a fire-spitting dragon

Remember his name you'll hear it again

As the clouds of the tempest gather

From the skies he'll return with the speed of light

And the sword of vengeance higher

See the calm before the storm

Fire and ice

Sleeping visions come to life again

Fire and ice

Out of the night

Nation by nation he'll conquer the world

A warrior shows no mercy

From the arctic cold to the tropical night

Far and wide goes the glourious journey
