shes a new girl but its the same old story. i lose again, and again, and again. how could i know how it would be? how can love start with a broken heart? shes a new girl, just like every other girl ive known. something always comes between. cant these things be foreseen? so my new girl will be a true girl.. once upon a time that little girl was mine. shes a new girl but its the same old story. i lose again, and again, and again. what can i do? how can i know? are girls all the same, just a body with a name? shes a new girl, just like every other girl ive known. something always comes between. cant these things be foreseen. so my new girl will be a true girl. once upon a time that little girl was mine. shes a new girl but its the same old story. i lose again, and again, and again.
