don't think i can last too long in this world don't feel like i belong in this world stranded alone on this alien beach everything is beyond my reach don't think i can make my peace with this world don't think i can last too long in this world don't feel like i belong in this world stranded alone on this alien beach everything is beyond my reach don't think i can make my peace with this world don't think i can take a part in this world ain't got he guts, ain't got the heart for this world all my promises and plans run like water through my hands don't think i can meet the demands of this world liar, lover, loser, saint all i am, all i ain't it's too much to take but not so much to lose don't feel like i can live in this world there's one alternative to this world solo shotgun serenade disconnect the plans i've laid there's no way, i have no faith in this world
