I want to swing in the waves
Deep, fearful and peaceful
Aggression and tranquillity as much as possible
Thinking to return while leaving(going)

I want to cry with the sky ,like pouring down
Where the hope ends, shattering the hope, reaching the darkness
I want to fight with what i believe, a start with foggy end
While the death is near, crying for the ones behind.

The words are still in my throat
The end of the road appears
The end of the black is white
The end of the white is dark

I want the shadow behind the white
Dark, unknown, stood behind
Shattering the white without darkening it
And making the darkness unique.

The words are still in my throat
The end of the road appears
The end of the black is white
the end of the white is dark.

I am walking with my eyes closed
Darkness is bit closer than far.

I want to cry with the sky ,like pouring down
Where the hope ends, shattering the hope, reaching the darkness
I want to fight with what i believe, a start with foggy end
While the death is near, crying for the ones behind

The words are still in my throat
The end of the road appears
The end of the black is white
The end of the white is dark.
