I've been deceived by the likes of thieves who breathe
Bluffs, tell me: who can I trust? Every Last One of Us!
Calumny surrounds me on all sides Â– who wanna see Injustice crushed?

Every Last One of Us!

If I get sent up for sayin' too much Â– who's gonna Break me off the back of the bus?

Every Us!

My stamina's diminished Â– if I can't finish Â– who's Comin' through in the clutch?

Every Last One of Us!

Warn from the struggle Â– startin' to show fatigue, son
Blast on the horn of Gabriel to tell the legion
I'mma hold the line until the time that my relief comes Divine infantry supply the energy to feed from Empowered, endowed with the ability to reason
Allowed the opportunity to choose or disbelieve some Seek to find the truth and you possess the key to Freedom

Then understand it's your responsibility to teach one
Exponentially increase the delegates

We politic with activists not asses and elephants

Rectify and edify a new central intelligence

Based upon dissemination of knowledge and evidence

Imagine the impact and prevalence

Of regiments designed to change questions to definites

The resonance is risin' up in every residence, yo
My brethren will be the testatment

When the clock strikes twelve and the heads rebel Â–
Who's gonna usher the rush?

Every Last One of Us!

When the state of things change and the truth is Explained, who's gon' be ready to adjust?

Every Last One of Us!

When the streets are overtaken by fleets of green
jeeps

Â– who's facin' the influx?

Every Last One of Us!

And when the last shot's fired at the empire Â– who Shall emerge from the dust?
Every Last One of Us!

The vision of our mission intimidates theocracy
Apostles of Revelations whose station is a mockery
Self-proclaimed authoritative vein of the prophecy
They strain when they struggle to explain the anomaly
It's our intent to re-implement modesty
Demandin' self-respect be the market's hottest Commodity
Regulate the wealth and decimate extreme poverty
And educate the kids with every dollar from the lottery

We 'bout to change the mentality
Of old world savagery into a new reality
One where teachers and lawyers will trade salaries
And liquor stores are razed to make way for art
Galleries
With one common thread we weave a global tapestry
Peace will be your motto when you follow the analogy
Down from the mountains to echo throughout the valley
It's the shouts of the soldiers in my cavalry

When the system finally falls Â– who people gon' call on
To show conduct?
Every Last One of Us!
When the new sun rises and we've all survived Â– who Knows it's not just luck?
Every Last One of Us!
It's a kingdom that we gotta construct Â– who's ready to
Build from the ground up?
Every Last One of Us!
Who's ready to commit? This is it, y'all Â– people unite
And say what?
Every Last One of Us!
