Bullets, I frame them in my head
And all those roses was never meant for me

Slowly I take one step back to the time were it all began Stories that never should have been told

Common-sense is a failing misery
Were the hell did you go?
Use my breath 'cause for me it's a burden Show me your rules and I'll try to learn 'em (Just as you play tonight)

Have you ever felt the feelings of tears and regrets like soldiers in duty?
Have you ever spend your nights together with bullets
of destiny?
A whisper that says everything will be fine, please trust
it and take my hand
Have you ever been so close to the world of today?

Still I try to reach you hand but I only see your soul through crying eyes
And now it hits me, my life was never meant to survive

Have you ever felt the feelings of tears and regrets like
soldiers in duty?
Have you ever spend your nights together with bullets
of destiny?
A whisper that says everything will be fine, please trust
it and take my hand
Have you ever been so close to the world of today?
