

21st Generation "Your Song, Darling"

I was walking on the streets in my own home town all alone in the shadows heard some whispers in the night

Strange is the word when we talk about you
I never understand, I never understand Where did you go?

Now I search all over for you
I'm on my own but we used to be true
You cheated on me girl even though it was cruel
You messed up my life only thought about you

Darling where did you go tonight?
Give me your hand tonight and I will follow you for the life worth being a reason to never take fresh air again

You brought me up and down Face the truth you always said to me that lies wasn't meant to be
A heartache, a heartache for me
