"No Moon"

You're not of this world
You shine above me
I reflect below
You're so familiar
Yet ever changing
You go where I go

But sometimes when I really need you
I look for you and find you've gone

Will I escape from
This empty feeling
So lonely inside
Could I get thunder
To sing of silence
And surge with the tide
But sometimes when I really need you
I look for you and find you've gone

I know you'll come back
You won't forsake me
So I'll just carry on

But sometimes when I really need you
I look for you and find you've gone

I know you'll come back
You won't forsake me
So I'll just carry on
