Another day of indecision, there's a battle in my head
It's not a matter of submission, I'll go wherever I'm led
But my mind keeps changing every day
I need your peace to point the way

And now I'm at another crossroad
And I don't know which way to go
My steps are ordered and I know I'll find the way
When Your word lights the path and I obey
When Your word lights the path and I obey, whoa yeah

Sometimes I feel a hesitation, is it me or is it You
I only need an indication, oh, I need some kind of clue
It's not hard to miss a turn along the way
I know I've missed some in my day

And now I'm at another crossroad
And I don't know which way to go
My steps are ordered and I know I'll find the way
When Your word lights the path and I obey
When Your word lights the path and I obey

I don't want to be wrong
I want to do what's right
I know that you can lead me through the maze
When I acknowledge you in all my ways

Another crossroad
Another crossroad

And now I'm at another crossroad
And I don't know which way to go
But Your word lights the path and I obey
My steps are ordered and I know I'll find the way
When Your word lights the path and I obey, I can obey

Another crossroad
Another crossroad
Another crossroad
