"Back to the Street"

It's so easy to lose the burden, take our eyes off the fields
Settle into apathy and forget what the harvest yields
It's so easy to think we're finished with our labor for a while Kick back and let somebody else go the extra mile

Jesus said, "Go into all the world
Make disciples of all men"
We gotta go to the highways
Compel them to come in

As long as there's a tearful eye, that cries alone at night
As long as there's a weary soul, ready to end the fight
As long as there's an aching heart, that still has strength to beat
We gotta take this message back to the street
We gotta take this message back to the street

It's so easy to stay untangled with everyone else's life
Don't get involved with strangers, don't get involved with strife
It's so easy to save your own life, resting on what you've done
But Jesus would leave the ninety nine to try to save the one

Jesus said, "Go into all the world
Make disciples of all men"
We gotta go to the highways
Compel them to come in

As long as there's a tearful eye that cries alone at night
As long as there's a weary soul ready to end the fight
As long as there's an aching heart that still has strength to beat
We gotta take this message back to the street
We gotta take this message back to the street

It's not easy to beat the system
It's not easy to face the heat

But somebody's got to take this message
Back to the street

As long as there's a tearful eye, that cries alone at night
As long as there's a weary soul, ready to end the fight
As long as there's an aching heart, that still has strength to beat
We gotta take this message back to the street
We gotta take this message back to the street
