He came with his mystic tricks
Exchanged for a crucifix
Those things he said would come true
She don't know if she'd like them too

And now it's ten years on
With several layers of
Youth and beauty gone
And now she's ten years older

Hanging on to the things he told her
If she's good, will it still occur?
Those things that he said would be
She can't wait for eternity

And now it's ten years on
With every shred of faith
It's dead and gone
And now she's ten years older

Hanging on to the things he told her
Don't blame the illusionist for those mouths
That you should've kissed
