Baby sings the blues for you
She may get happy later
Baby cries for comfort
For something to surround her

And when she sings it you believe her
How everyone she ever knew
Would leave her spinning 'round
All on fire

Another wild hearted woman
Another child with the stars in her eyes
A wild hearted woman
And she's falling, falling

Baby's lost her soul to you
Call her a fallen angel
Stormy weather forever
With every friend a stranger

And when she sings it you believe her
How everyone she ever knew
Would leave her spinning 'round
All on fire

Another wild hearted woman
Another child with the stars in her eyes
A wild hearted woman
And she's falling, falling

Lost little girl
In hurricanes of love and pain
Locked in her world
Of daisy chains of love and pain
Trying to find peace of mind

Another wild hearted woman
Another child with the stars in her eyes
A wild hearted woman
And she's falling, falling

Another wild hearted woman

Another child with the stars in her eyes
A wild hearted woman
And she's falling, falling

Falling, falling
Falling, falling
Falling, falling
