He lives in a world of hate
Where nobody appreciates
The things he does in life
They always come to him for advice
But they never listen

He's constantly stabbed in the back
He knows his day will come to get his revenge
And the ones he's been hurt by will regret the things they have done
But their pain has only just begun
In this world he has learned there is no mercy for anyone

Chorus:
He is not the same
He is too ashamed
This is what he has become
It is not his fault
It's the things he's done
But this is what he has become
And nobody can change him now

Verse 2:

Now bodies lie in a pool of blood
His mind starts to flood with thoughts of suicide
But he can't kill himself now
He is on a search for the rest that have hurt him
He will not stop until there all dead
When they see him coming they start to run
But they can't escape the bullets from his gun

Chorus:
He is not the same
He is too ashamed
This is what he has become
It is not his fault
It's the things he's done
But this is what he has become
And nobody can change him now
