Broken beliefs, a walk of life an endless dream,
Wish I could find myself in anything
Somehow I keep running away
The voice of darkness keeps echoing
From down these dead-end streets, calling me
I cry out from the deeper part of my soul, to a God
I've never known before
And I hear a voice that speaks to me

Believe in me, my love will set you free
Just call my name and I'll be there...

Wasted life, I wish I could go back now and make things right
Broken promises I made to you, time and time again
And I cry out from the deepest part of my soul
To a God I've never known
And I hear a voice that's calling me

Believe in me, my love will set you free
Just call my name and I'll be there...

Broken beliefs, a walk of life an endless dream,
Wish I could find myself in anything
Somehow I keep running away
The voice of darkness keeps echoing
From down these dead-end streets, calling me
I cry out from the deeper part of my soul, to a God
I've never known before
