"Meaning Of Life"

I hear your heart beat the sound of you breathing
I'm touching your skin amazed at the feeling
I've worn out my body and soul trying to figure things out

Funny how simple it all seems now
A man needs a reason to live and to die
And I've found all my answers right here in your eyes
God's in his heaven and I've seen the lights
To lie here and love you is the meaning of life

It all seems so clear the tears and the laughter
Were leading me here your love's all that matters
So darling let anything come whatever the world puts me through
I won't ask why because I have you
A man needs a reason...
To lie here and love you is the meaning of life
