freedom-
free at last
i'm flyin'
ain't lookin' back again i tuck my heart inside my sleeve and saunter off to some jamaican bar the sun goes down as i drink up my spirits high even forgot your name (you were so insane) the native girls look so pretty and their lonely eyes always glitter in the moon but it's still too soon anybody lovin' you?
anybody lovin' you my sweet baby?
anybody lovin' you?
lord, don't you make it true i used to say, this to shall pass but it's been so long i know you can't sympathize i'm writing all my novels in this notebook while your world turns on and on my thoughts of love are fading as the working girls come parading down the drag anybody lovin' you? anybody lovin' my sweet baby? anybody lovin' you? do what your gonna do anybody lovin' you? anybody lovin' my sweet baby?
anybody lovin' you? anybody lovin' you?
and does he make you crazy, too? i see your lips i feel yor voice you're two years gone and still you haunt my heart
i got my tea and sheeba in the sunshine and the ocean's whispering (the same old thing) the sun goes down my spirit's high even forgot your name
anybody lovin' you?
