and then the sun came to tear my eyes slowly cause you ain't the one another fantasy disowned me i can be stone
i got to slip out light & ghostly back in the sun where your stormy moods won't know me i want to help you in your quest for true salvation

but i just can't help you if you're bent on complications

feeling numb
i look around my world's a hollow egg it's so lonely i ain't the one for you darling still we go down on our knees & we aint praying so unholy all we need now were not saying

but i just can't help you if your bent
on complications
