Drown tonight
All this noise inside
Holy Spirit won't you speak
I will be silent
I will be

I've been wrong before
By giving you the run around
And I can't stand the thought
Of letting go the upper hand
I'm feeling crowded
Don't want to be in this place
It's getting way too loud in here

Drown tonight
All this noise inside
Holy Spirit won't you speak
I will be silent

Take this heart of mine
Turn it to the divine
Break distractions
I will learn the sound of silence

So much static
In the rumors of a world of compromise
Always a little bit of truth
Disguising every good lie
Those poison lullabies
So out of tune
Yet they sound so right?
No, no!

Drown tonight
All this noise inside
Holy Spirit won't you speak
I will be silent

Take this heart of mine
Turn it to the divine
Break distractions

I will learn the sound of silence

Tonight

I will be still

And know You're God

I will be still and know You

I will be still and know You're God

Push this white noise down

I will be silent

Drown my worldly distractions

And the calls to comfort and self satisfaction

When the world threatens the peace

That surpasses all understanding now

I will be still and know You are God
