I would never give back the love, you gave me
I would never undo the past, that made me
Even when the memories hurt it would only make me feel worse
If I were to give back the love, you gave me

You were never more than fifteen minutes away from me
Growing up on the very same street never you without
me
I was there when you crashed and you burned and cutoff your hair
It was me that helped you find your way back from nowhere

Oh, time flies and wipes away all my regrets
So young how could we know what we have
But now that I know
I wouldn't forget no

So I would never give back the love, you gave me
I would never undo the past, that made me
Even when the memories hurt it would only make me
feel worse
If I were to give back the love, you gave me

Always say it like you say something
No one else could see
There were nights when you burnt so bright
I thought that you would blind me

I was there when you cried through the night
And you let your guard down
I was there when you stepped off track
And started running around

Oh, time flies and wipes away is a regret So young how could we know what we had
But now that I know
I won't, won't forget oh

I would never give back the love, you gave me

I would never undo the past, that made me
Even when the memories hurt it would only make me
feel worse
If I were to give back the love, you gave me

When your promise was broken
That's when your love was stolen from me
I'm on my knees
All I have left to trust, your memories

I would never give back the love, you gave me
I would never undo the past, that made me
Even when the memories hurt it would only make me
feel worse
If I were to give back the love, you gave me

I would never give back the love, you gave me
I would never undo the past, that made me
Even when the memories hurt it would only make me
feel worse
If I were to give back the love, you gave me
