I'm sorry for needing you to carry me
So simple sometimes when You're standing next to me

You never change
You never stay the same
Like a picture-perfect sunrise
Every time with one last song to sing

Take it all away from me
And tell me how you want this to be
I want you, I need you

Take it all away from me
And tell me how you want this to be
I want you, I need you

A life without you made me wonder
Why I'm here, until I found you
Nothing ever seemed so clear

You never change
You never stay the same
Like a picture-perfect sunrise
Every time with one last song to sing

Take it all away from me
And tell me how you want this to be
I want you, I need you

Take it all away from me
And tell me how you want this to be
I want you, I need you

I lose myself in everything you say
I lose myself in everything
Never knew that I could feel this way
Never knew that I could feel

Take it all away from me
And tell me how you want this to be
I want you, I need you

Take it all away from me
And tell me how you want this to be
I want you, I need you

I lose myself in everything you say
(You say)
I lose myself in everything you say
(You say)

I lose myself in everything you say
(You say)
I lose myself in everything you say
(You say)
