Standing scared you've always been that way
Fight your own fight
Paranoia every single day
Fight your own fight
Afraid to take a chance and be involved
Fight your own fight
Your self pride is hanging on a rack

When will you stand up and help us be strong?
How can you face life and live with yourself?
Do you see justice in what they have done?
You see confrontation and you turn and run
One of us gets beaten to a pulp
Fight your own fight
You just turn and look the other way
Fight your own fight
Unite we have, but you're too fucking scared
Fight your own fight
Commit yourself , you never fucking dared
Fight your own fight
