I watched you while you walked with her. made sure she played her part, demure. she couldn't get a word in, around you. you ask her where she's going to and who she's spent time talking to. but you don't care what she's been going through. another trophy, tough guy! someone to bully, tough guy! now won't you hurry up, and die soon? your latest conquest, she's nothing more. your part time punching bag and whore. she knows her place and stays there, around you. surprised you even know her name. you treat your women all the same. consistent in the pain you put them through. another trophy, tough guy! someone to bully, tough guy! now won't you hurry up, and die soon? i see you found another trophy, tough guy! you're nothing but a fucking bully, tough guy. another trophy, tough guy! someone to bully, tough guy! now won't you hurry up, and die soon?
