Always complaning. it's something to do. constantly crying about the way life's fucking you. the routine is ugly. so boring and old. compared to some others at least you're not out in the cold. i could tell you that i care and that i truly understand, but that would only be a lie. i could wipe away the stain, pretend that i can ease your pain, but that would only be a lie. you're selfish and silly despite all that hype. forever bitching. yeah, there's no doubt you've got a gripe. you're mad and defensive. you're looking to blame whoever is near you. it's always the same. i could tell you that i care and that i truly understand, but that would only be a lie. i could wipe away the stain, pretend that i can ease your pain, but that would only be a lie. always complaning. it's something to do. constantly crying about the way life's fucking you. the routine is ugly. so boring and old. compared to some others at least you're not out in the cold. i could tell you that i care and that i truly understand, but that would only be a lie. i could wipe away the stain, pretend that i can ease your pain, but that would only be a lie. i could tell you that i care and that i truly understand, but that would only be a lie. i could wipe away the stain, pretend that i can ease your pain, but that would only be a lie.
