When she calls warnings in the gateway
The streets can hear her longing voice aloud
She stands before the crowds to offer safety She's mocked and hated by the fool she will deny in time

She knows the score

Turn your ear to her and you will follow
Cry out for her loving treasured land
She speaks of victory and protection
She will enter your heart when your wickedness turns to leave

She knows the score

Less you care to bleed
Lands denied for your own needs
She'll get over
Livin' lies and then you hate it
Listen to a song to save it
She likes the One who heals Heaven lifted, the One who feels
