I am sinking in a river that is raging
I am drowning, will I ever rise to breathe again
I wanna know why, I just wanna understand Will I ever know why? How could this be from Your hand?

When every little thing that I have dreamed would be
Just slips away like water through my hand
And when it seems the walls of my belief
Are crashing down like they're all made of sand
I won't let go of You now because I know
Oh, You're not shaken

I am trembling in the darkness of my own fear
All the questions with no answers still grip me while I'm here
And I may never know why, oh, I may not understand
But I will lift up my eyes and trust this is Your plan

When every little thing that I have dreamed would be
Just slips away like water through my hand
And when it seems the walls of my belief
Are crashing down like they're all made of sand
I won't let go of You now because I know
Oh, You're not shaken

When I am in the valley of the shadow of death
You're not shaken, You're not shaken
You're right here beside me and You have never left
Oh, You're not shaken, You're not shaken

When every little thing that I have dreamed would be Just slips away like water through my hands
And when it seems the walls of my belief
Are crashing down like they're all made of sand

I won't let go of You now because I know
Oh, You're not shaken, oh, You're not shaken
Oh, You're not shaken, oh, You're not shaken

You're not shaken, You're not shaken
You're not shaken, You're not shaken

You're not shaken, You're not shaken
You're not shaken
