"Fade Away"

I was up all of last night trying to get my heart on this peace of paper
Saying pretty things and using pretty words wont get me there

All I really want to say is that I care for you
All I really want to say is that I'll be there for you
When things go wrong

Tie a piece of rope to me baby
When they throw in the ocean I'll swim
If you need me to hold a light up for you
When things grow dim

And I feel like screaming, screaming when you pushed me away
And know that it's better, better for you that way
But I don't want to watch you fade away
