"Look at Me Now"

Over and above everything I say
I've got a reasonable suspicion you're gonna get away
Over and above everything I do
Nothing in this world can prepare me for losing you

Look at me now, Look at me now
I can't breathe

It's unbelievable the way you move right through my world
It's inconceivable that someone like you could be mine still
You don't know the first thing about me do you
You don't know the worst thing about me is you

Over and above all these little things
It might take forever just to get my hands clean
Over and above just the way you move
It might take forever especially when it comes to you

You bring out the worst there is in me every time
And now I'm struggling to breath and I'll never know why
