I found a picture of you and me from 1989 when we shared the world together happy as teens could be life's a whirlwind and time's a whore I pick our past up off the floor I write these lines just in case I don't see you no more maybe you're married, you've got it made maybe you're famous or just get played maybe you showed up at our show but maybe I will never know

No, I will never know
'cause you're somewhere where I can't go a million miles away or right here next to me I've tried so many times to find the home that once was mine
a million miles away or right here next to me

Just one sign is all I want to move on where we started from I've tried as hard as I could try not even sure you're still alive what's with all that we once shared please forgive me but I care I scream as loud as I can scream but you don't hear me

No, I will never know
'cause you're somewhere where I can't go
a million miles away or right here next to me I've tried so many times to find the home that once was
mine
a million miles away or right here next to me

I survived our separation but I can't wait for all time all I need is a little information so I can leave it behind

No, I will never know
'cause you're somewhere where I can't go

I've tried so many times to find the home that once was
mine

No, I will never know
'cause you're somewhere where I can't go
a million miles away or right here next to me I've tried so many times to find the home that once was
mine
