Her eyes they glisten in the sun
As she watches the day become night
As the dark draws in
And then she takes a flute and plays a song
Melodies from days that have gone by

And as she looks in the water
He's smiling back at her
And in her heart she knows
The time is close
For her soul to move on from this Earth

It's been a long time waiting
To see his face and
To feel his love again
No more crying
Soon you'll be flying
To a place where forever begins
Flying to forever, forever
To a place where forever begins

She remembers a time when he was there
They were blissfully unaware
That their time was near
For the man that she loved was to go away
He'd been called to a better place
Far away from here

And as she looks in the water
He's smiling back at her
And in her heart she knows
Her eyes they show
The dreams of the way things once were

It's been a long time waiting
To see his face and
To feel his love again
No more crying
Soon you'll be flying
To a place where forever begins

Two lovers, they can meet again on the other side

She feels no pain, she's strong again where the angels fly

And as she looks in the water
He's smiling back at her
And in her heart she knows
Her eyes they show
The dreams of the way things once were

It's been a long time waiting
To see his face and
To feel his love again
No more crying
To see his face and
Flying to forever
To a place where forever begins
To forever, forever
