(Lee Majors)

If I could rule the world like Kurtis I'd wear my crown to a tilt garnish the world with fine silk and look over what I build and say wicked are those who cross the path of righteous men let me start again (for what) for those who can't comprehend lee majors
the virus niggas they run from us we the spot runners i'll snatch your land like colombus take crews in large numbers who'll be the 1st to seal their fate and make me play the album I'm out to rule the world while you talk about your silly glasses half-ass rappers can't match this the shit I practice shakes the world off its axis your vaginal flow can't compete with my god like tactics sharp as a cactus my personnel behind doors getting ready building missles for the next world war I kidnapped the president's wife strapped with a butter knife planned to take her life in exchange for insight about the new world order my troops will move across the border with plans to overthrow your government seal up the border more than a corner the whole earth is a game we bout to take over this world
like the brain
man your shit is insane (Lee Majors 2nd verse) my crew line up like picket fences cautious no remorse

we squaring off on the oval office shacked up on iron horses no playas
just coaches deep like army ants on the backs of roaches you can't approach us my team's strapped with knowledge of self giving love to a few hated by everyone else coz up on the earth it's kind of hard to maintain
show 'em
