

Phyllis Dillon

"Midnight Confessions"

Visit "Midnight Confessions" on MotoLyrics.com

I'm wasting my time

In my midnight confession
Brings out a need in me that no one can hear, except
There's a little gold ring you wear
But a little gold ring you wear

Sometimes the feelings are so hard to hide but
When I tell all the world that I love you
There's another before me, you'll never be mine
When I'm telling the world that I love you
Staggering through the daytime
On your hand makes me understand

Your image on my mind
When I say all the things that I want to, I love you

In my midnight confession
When I say all the things that I want to, I love you
In my midnight confession
On your hand makes me understand
In my midnight confession

Your soft gentle motion, babe

There's another before me, you'll never be mine
In my midnight confession
Passing so close beside you babe
In my midnight confession
When I tell all the world that I love you
I'm wasting my time

Visit Phyllis Dillon page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.