(Browne/Maitland)

He wants her

She leads him on and on

He just can't escape

A thousand years of evolution

Build at once into confusion

He watches

Her walking home again

He just can't pretend

Tries to look in other places

As she bends to tie her laces

(Chorus)

They see everything from everywhere

Could be anyone of anywhere

The world sees her everywhere

The shape god gave her

Never saved her from

White collar

He wants her everytime she opens her mind

Comes to him for consultation

Secret midnight visitation

He wants her

She's showing off again

The show's just for him

He promises of god's forgiveness

Gives himself unfinished business

(Chorus)

She led a beautiful life

Such a beautiful life

A beautiful crime

She knows now

She found out every man

Is one and the same

"For these things they never train us

Beautiful's the same as famous"

(Chorus)

They see everything from everywhere

Could be anyone or anywhere

Nothing changes

Nothing changes
