Please understand there is reason for everything
I see the way and except it as part of my life
But I believe there are answers I have to bring
And I believe that this moment is right

Let the last line enter our world
Let the good shine - justly deserved
And when I find - something I've learnt
It's the last moment I've heard

Watch the seconds of time, progressing, try, but they Can't be retrieved
Whilst with envy just reminiscing, wondering how things
Could be

Please understand there is reason for everything
I see the way and accept it as part of my life
But I believe there are answers I have to bring
And I believe that this moment is right

Let the last line enter our world
Let the good shine - justly deserved

And when I find - something I've learnt
It's the last moment I've heard

You know the mountain we climb reveals many things
When I stand at the top, I'll just have to sing
From this moment I'll grow and will always bring life
To everything

As the oil of the root in summer, flowers and devalues
It's worth
Like a fortune in time will wither, casting it's seeds
To the earth

Please understand there is reason for everything
I see the way and accept it as part of my life
But I believe there are answers I have to bring
And I believe that this moment is right

Let the last line enter our world
Let the good shine - justly deserved
And when I find - something I've learnt
It's the last moment I've heard
