

Dan & Amy Schmock

"Mom And Dad Will Always Miss You"

Visit "Mom And Dad Will Always Miss You" on MotoLyrics.com

Every morning when we wake up
And every night before we sleep
Our hearts and souls so heavy
That we can hardly breath.
Remember what I told you
When your looking at the moon
Know that mom and dad still love you
And we're looking up there too.

We knew back when they took you, we'd be fighting every day for
The family we once had together now all we do is prey.
Never thought they'd take you from us, seemed like such a reach
Mom and dad are so darn lonely now all we do is weep.
I know now when I taught you, dads they just don't cry
If I could only hold you, I'd explain that's just a lie.

Every morning when we wake up
And every night before we sleep
Our hearts and souls so heavy
That we can hardly breath.
Remember what I told you
When your looking at the moon
Know that mom and dad still love you
And we're looking up there too.

Wondering do you think of us, and are we in your dreams.
A mom and dad who care so much, that time won't heal
it seems
We promised to protect you, just as long as we're alive
Now that D.C.F.s destroyed us, all we want to do is die.
We keep in mind there is still a chance, we all could be together
It gets us through another day thinking life might just get better.

Every morning when we wake up
And every night before we sleep
Our hearts and souls so heavy
That we can hardly breath.

Remember what I told you
When your looking at the moon
Know that mom and dad still love you
And we're looking up there too.

If we could tell our story the world would understand
That we were always happy and didn't need a service plan.
They pretend there going to help you then stab us in the back
The sorrow that we've suffered feels like we're fighting in Iraq.
When mom and dad go to bed tonight you'll be on our minds
Hoping we will dream of you in more loving times.

Every morning when we wake up
And every night before we sleep
Our hearts are so darn heavy
That we can hardly breath.
Remember what I told you
When your looking at the moon
Know that mom and dad still love you
And we're looking up there too.
Heaven knows
Every morning when we wake up
And every night before we sleep
Our hearts are so dam heavy
That we can hardly breath.
Remember what I told you
When your looking at the moon

Mom and dad will always miss you
And God's looking up there to.

Visit Dan & Amy Schmock page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.