

Pierce The Veil "Diamonds And Why Men Buy Them"

Visit "Diamonds And Why Men Buy Them" on MotoLyrics.com

Oh no, here we go again
I like to receive
What the earth and sea had thought
It'd be best not to even give me, even give me

Now you say, that I never bother you the way he did
(Now open your eyes)
Now I saw the moon divorce the sky
Is this what it's like?
(Don't run)

Spell out, spell out, spell out to me, babe

So every week we'll meet
A bed for the backseat
A love drunk memory
(But such a beautiful routine)

Now you say, that I never bother you the way he did
(Now open eyes)
Now I saw the moon divorce the sky, tonight

This remedy is worse than the disease
And slowly killing me

We like to run our blood thin
And laugh at the things we never did
We like to run our blood thin
And laugh at things

We say, say, "Hello"
We say, say, "Hello"
We say, say, "Hello"
We say, say

Now you say, we're better off that way
Now I saw the moon divorce the sky
Is this what it's like?

Visit Pierce The Veil page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

