Listen up here's another lesson
Chapter two of this saga sparks yet another question
Are you doing just enough to get by
Try and fool 'em into thinking that you live the right life

Or maybe thinking since you can't see Him, He can't see you
That's understandable 'cause then I used to feel it too
But we're responsible for every action
And like Newton there's an equal reaction

You're afraid of what it takes
To give it all away
Doing enough just to get by, just to get by
Thinking that you live the right life

You're afraid of what it takes
To give it all away
Doing enough just to get by, just to get by
Thinking that you live the right life

It's so ridiculous to think you all just hearin' us
If you believe it let it known y'all be feelin' us
Not just the sound but the Trinity in whom we trust
It's already known who in the end will be victorious

And like KJ it's a twelve round knockout
I'll fight to the end and you'll be the one to walk out
Step out holdin' up the crown like a title belt
It's one bout the devil wish he never dealt

You're afraid of what it takes
To give it all away
Doing enough just to get by, just to get by
Thinking that you live the right life

You're afraid of what it takes
To give it all away
Doing enough just to get by, just to get by
Thinking that you live the right life

It's all mixed up in your head about, what's wrong and what is right

It's all mixed up in your head about, what's wrong and
what is right
It's all mixed up in your head about, what's wrong and
what is right
It's all mixed up in your head about, what's wrong and
what is right

What's right

You're afraid of what it takes
To give it all away
Doing enough just to get by, just to get by
Thinking that you live the right life
