Tragedy

Every time that I have this recurring dream

I can't believe that it's true

There is a light, and a distant scream

If you only knew

Ignoring the words

And the signs that once were given to us

From the land

To the sea

Can you feel the tragedy

Do you fear

What you see

Can you feel the tragedy

It's too late to turn

A whisper in the wind

We will never learn

It's time to count our sins

The future's passed

The spell was cast

We'll never last

From the land

To the sea

Can you feel the tragedy

Do you fear

What you see

Can you feel the tragedy

Some had time to stop and learn

They looked away, too late to turn

Ignoring the words

And the signs that once were given to us

From the land

To the sea

Can you feel the tragedy

Do you fear
What you see
Can you feel the tragedy

Don't you fear
What you see
Can you feel the tragedy

From the land
To the sea
We ignored the prophecy
