

Darken My Grief "Angels Of Pain"

When we descend, your knees we bend
A symphony to your bitter end.
Wings uncut and eyes wide shut,
We seal your doom; hopes turn to dust!...

The bounds of pain broken
I was reborn of pain,
An entrapped angel was I,
Ages of suffering, of silence and grief
Have chained my soul to the night.

And given freedom, I sought to seed
The myriad truths of life, yet again,
In mortals' laments, in their despair,

For I'm an angel of pain!

...
Ch: You're lost forever and drift away,
No room for revelry, no light to fill your somber day...
We bring desire, you fall apart
A beautiful phoenix lying wings broken in the dirt...

We saw the seeds of your disaster,
Oh, pain breeds such poetry!...
As muses for your dark inspiration,
So blessed are we
