Denslow, you infantile cad
You must have gone mad to be so vile
Are we supposed to believe
These thoughts re-conceived is honorable

Revising these texts is a brazen sin
This infraction just will not keep
You swallowed your own opium
While we lull our children to sleep

You can't get out of this mess so easy
You can't just draw anything and leave me
We won't go through every page apathetically
Denslow, you could never act more guilty

Denslow you've just about had
An idea so bad it's actionable
This aesthetic fail, this fraudulent tale is delusional

Arrogance flows from each page you're in
Detached and disposed were your thing
So you bought your own island
Built a castle and crowned yourself king

You can't get out of this one so easy
You can't just draw anything and leave me
We won't go through every page apathetically
Denslow, you could never act more guilty
