Whatever happened to your's truly?
Now I'm so spun, so high strung
That I cant even sleep
I just lie in bed awake
Grinding down my teeth
Get back up to go back out
And walk the same old streets
Always searching, something missing
Never satisfied
Whatever happened to you?
Now you laugh at how you used to care
You laugh at how you tried
You talk about how you weren't always tired all the time
You laugh at how we're going nowhere
Amd then you ask me why
We never do anything fun anymore
Well, we're not much fun anymore
Whatever happened to you and me?
Whatever happened to our community?
do you hink we'll go down in history?
or will we just be forgotten
I don't wanna be forgotten
I'm so scared of being forgotten
That's my problem, I'm so scared
We used to say look both ways
Before you cross our path
Now we both turn away
And there's nothing left
To bridge the gap between us
Do you think that it's too late?
To start over again?
