

Pink Cream 69

"King Of My World"

Visit "King Of My World" on MotoLyrics.com

I can hear the song of tomorrow
Whispering in my ear
Though you left me so much sorrow
I just can't surrender my fears

Sick and tired of lying to my feelings
But I can't go on anymore
On these hardened cold stairs I'm kneeling...

Loosing my mind
Memories unwind
Pictures of you on the floor

Now you've gone in my life
And I'm paying the price
But still I'm the king of my world
I've been crying for you
And what else should I do?
But still I'm the king of my world

And as I lay awake in the morning
Thinking that I was wrong
I realize that I'm just dreaming
I must have been right all along

Was a time I searched for answers?
Was it all in vain?
Maybe now I'll take my chances...

Loosing my mind
Memories unwind
Can't hold me back anymore

Now you've gone in my life
And I'm paying the price
But still I'm the king of my world
I've been crying for you
And what else should I do?
But still I'm the king of my world

There's a sadness in my life

Taking hold of me
And it cuts me like a knife
Baby, let me be!

And maybe I'm wrong
But maybe I'm strong
It won't be so long
Can't take me back anymore

Now you've gone in my life
And I'm paying the price
But still I'm the king of my world
I've been crying for you
And what else should I do?
But still I'm the king of my world

Now you've gone in my life
And I'm paying the price
But still I'm the king of my world
I've been crying for you
And what else should I do?
But still I'm the king of my world

Say a prayer for someone
Nothing is in vain (the king of my world)
Take good care of someone
No one needs the pain...

Visit Pink Cream 69 page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.