"Spread Your Wings"

Off into a place where every spirit has to go
See the lines upon their faces troubled by the flow
Listen to the distant thunder
Claiming all the sky
Now we all should realize
No one answer
No one reason why

Spread your wings
And leave your worries behind
Light the flame
That guides the way through your mind
Show your will
That write the stories untold
Spread your wings
Leave the past behind
Nothing more, you will find

Once you were a prisoner
But now your free at last
Binded by the darkness and the demons of your past
Feel the magic rise within the deepness of your heart
Stone for stone you built your fortress
Now they've come ,to tear it all apart

Spread your wings
And leave your worries behind
Light the flame
That guides the way through your mind
Show your will
That write the stories untold
Spread your wings
Leave the past behind
Nothing more, you will find

Blinded by the circumstance's
Shadowing the light
Reminded by the unforgiven
Lost upon the flight
Destiny is long in making
Some have been so shy

Now we all should realize
No one answer, no one reason why

Spread your wings
And leave your worries behind
Light the flame
That guides the way through your mind
Show your will
That write the stories untold
Spread your wings
So leave your worries behind
Spread your wings
